

Western invasions (1839-1900)

- Opium War (1839 - 1842)
- The Second Opium War (1856 - 1860)
- Russia's territorial gains
 - Northeast China (1858 - 1860)
 - Northwest China (1881 - 1884)
- Sino-French War (1883 - 1885)
- Sino-Japanese War (1894 - 95)
- 8-nation forces (1900)

Weakness fully exposed

- Sino-Japanese War of 1894 - 1895
 - Chinese navy destroyed
 - Taiwan ceded to Japan
 - large indemnity
 - most-favored-nation
 - more treaty ports
 - Korea
- start of Japanese empire

The scramble for concessions

The Boxer Uprising in 1900

- Peasants in Northern China
- support from high officials of Qing court
- destruction of anything foreign
- siege of the legation quarter in Beijing

8-nation forces invaded Beijing

- Harsh settlement
- station troops in Beijing
- huge indemnity
- Russian troops in Manchuria
 - until 1905

Radicalization of politics

status quo

modern monarchy

Qing court

Reformers

Peasants

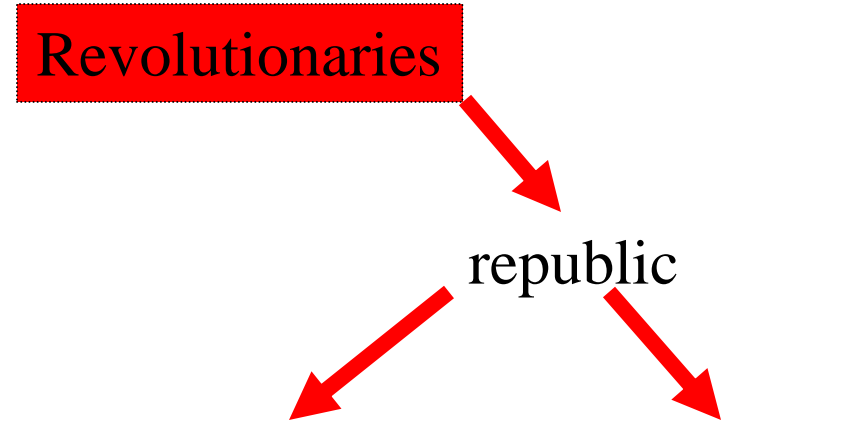

Revolutionaries

pre-1841 China

republic

Marxism?

nationalism?

The Revolution of 1911

- 1911-10-10, Wuchang Uprising
 - Qing dynasty was overthrown
- 1912-01-01, China became a republic

Sun YatSen (1866 - 1925)

- 1st President of the Republic of China
- founder of the Nationalist Party (GMD)
- The Three Principles of the People
 - nationalism
 - people's rights
 - people's livelihood

Warlords (1913-28)

Chiang KaiShek

- Born in Zhejiang Province in 1887
- studied Confucianism in his hometown
- studied military in Japan 1907 - 1911
- returned during the Revolution of 1911
- became a follower of Sun YatSen
- President of the Huangpu Academy
– 1924 - 1930

Frustrated nationalism

- China's previous efforts to borrow from the West to achieve wealth and power all failed
 - military hardware and related technologies
 - economic institutions and organization
 - science, scholarship, and education
 - government, political processes and organizations

Frustrated nationalism

- China became weaker and poorer
 - continuous civil wars between warlords
 - Western privileges in China
- humiliated and abused in the world

Radical urban intellectuals

- multiplication of ism's

6, 1918年、1919年，毛泽东两次来到北京，如饥若渴地学习马克思主义，成为马克思主义者。右图为毛泽东来北京后居住过的豆腐池胡同15号杨昌济寓所与景山东街三眼井吉安所左巷8号。

3, 中国共产党的创始人陈独秀、李大钊。陈独秀是北京大学文科学长、《新青年》杂志主编，被誉为“五四运动的总司令”。李大钊是北京大学图书馆主任，中国传播马克思主义第一人。

World War I (1914-18)

- Beijing government
 - joined the Allied forces
 - sent laborers to Europe

World War I (1914-18)

- Japan drove German forces out of Qingdao
- Paris Peace Conference in 1919

High expectations in Beijing

Treaty of Versailles (1919)

- All German privileges in China's Shandong Peninsula were “transferred” to Japan

Student protests in Beijing

Spread of the movement

- Boycott Japanese products
- demand release of arrested students
- workers and merchants joined in
- Shanghai, Nanjing, etc.
- Paris, California, etc.

New political parties

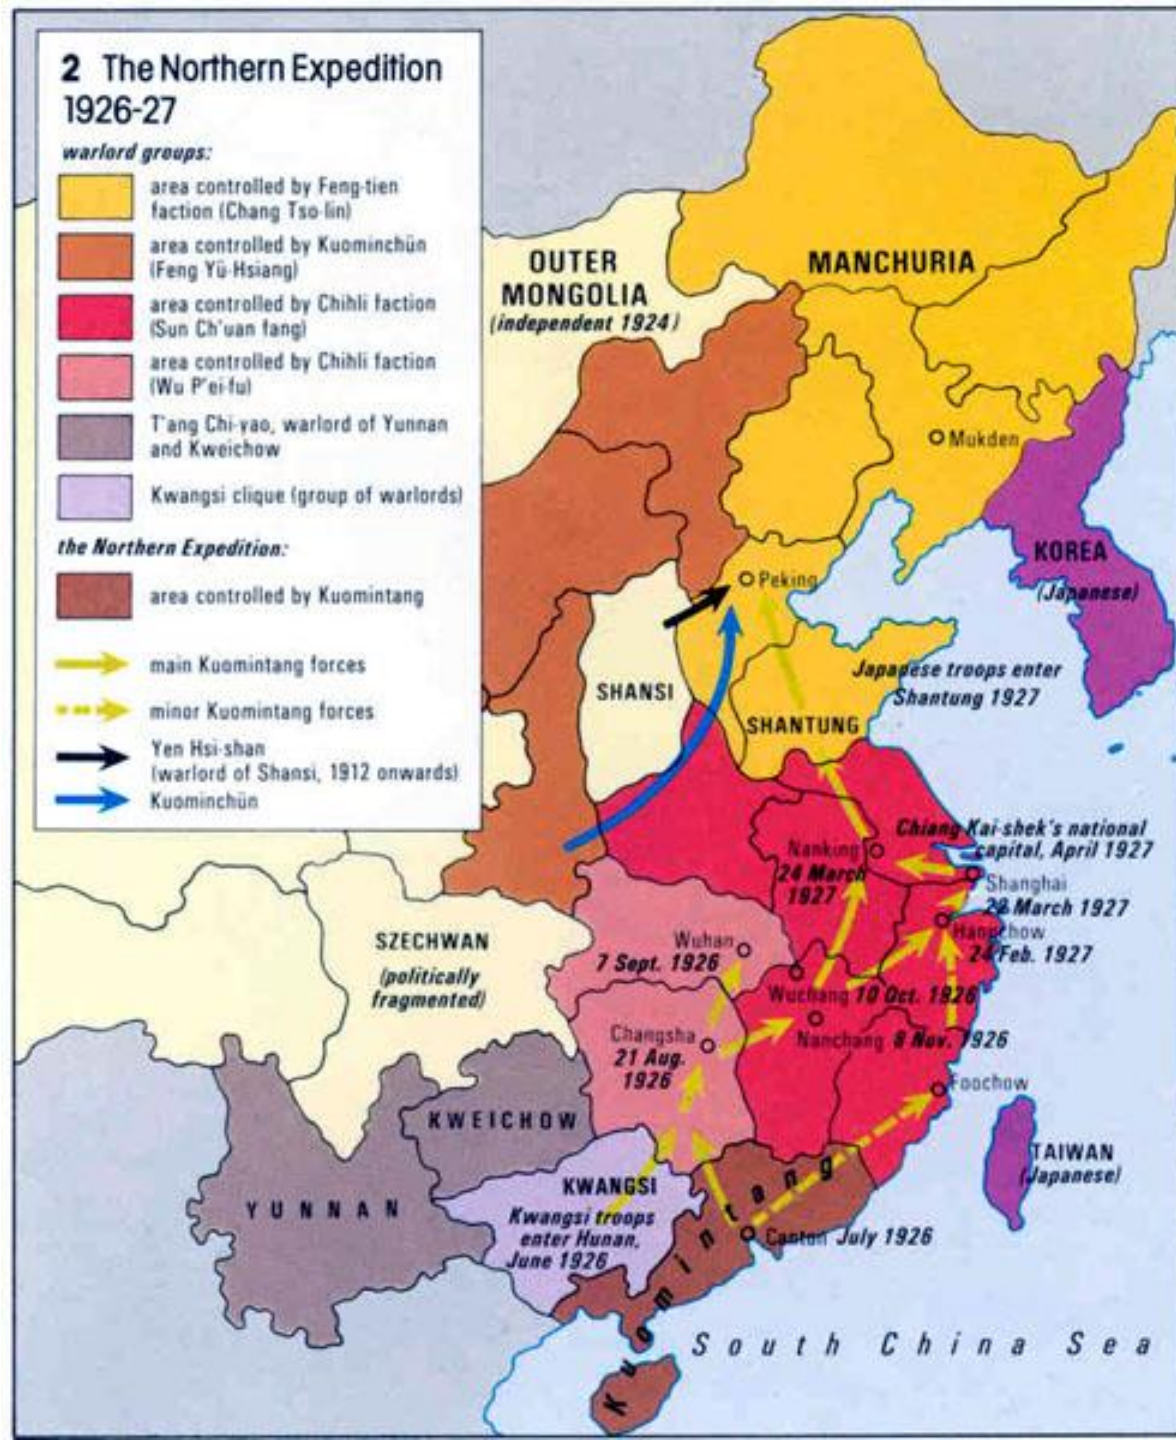

- Nationalist Party (GMD) was established
 - Sun Yat-Sen died in 1925
 - Chiang Kai-Shek was the military leader
- Communist Party was established in 1921
 - Mao ZeDong was one of its founding members

Northern Expedition

- GMD & CCP merged in 1924
- split in 1927
- CCP was decimated

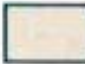

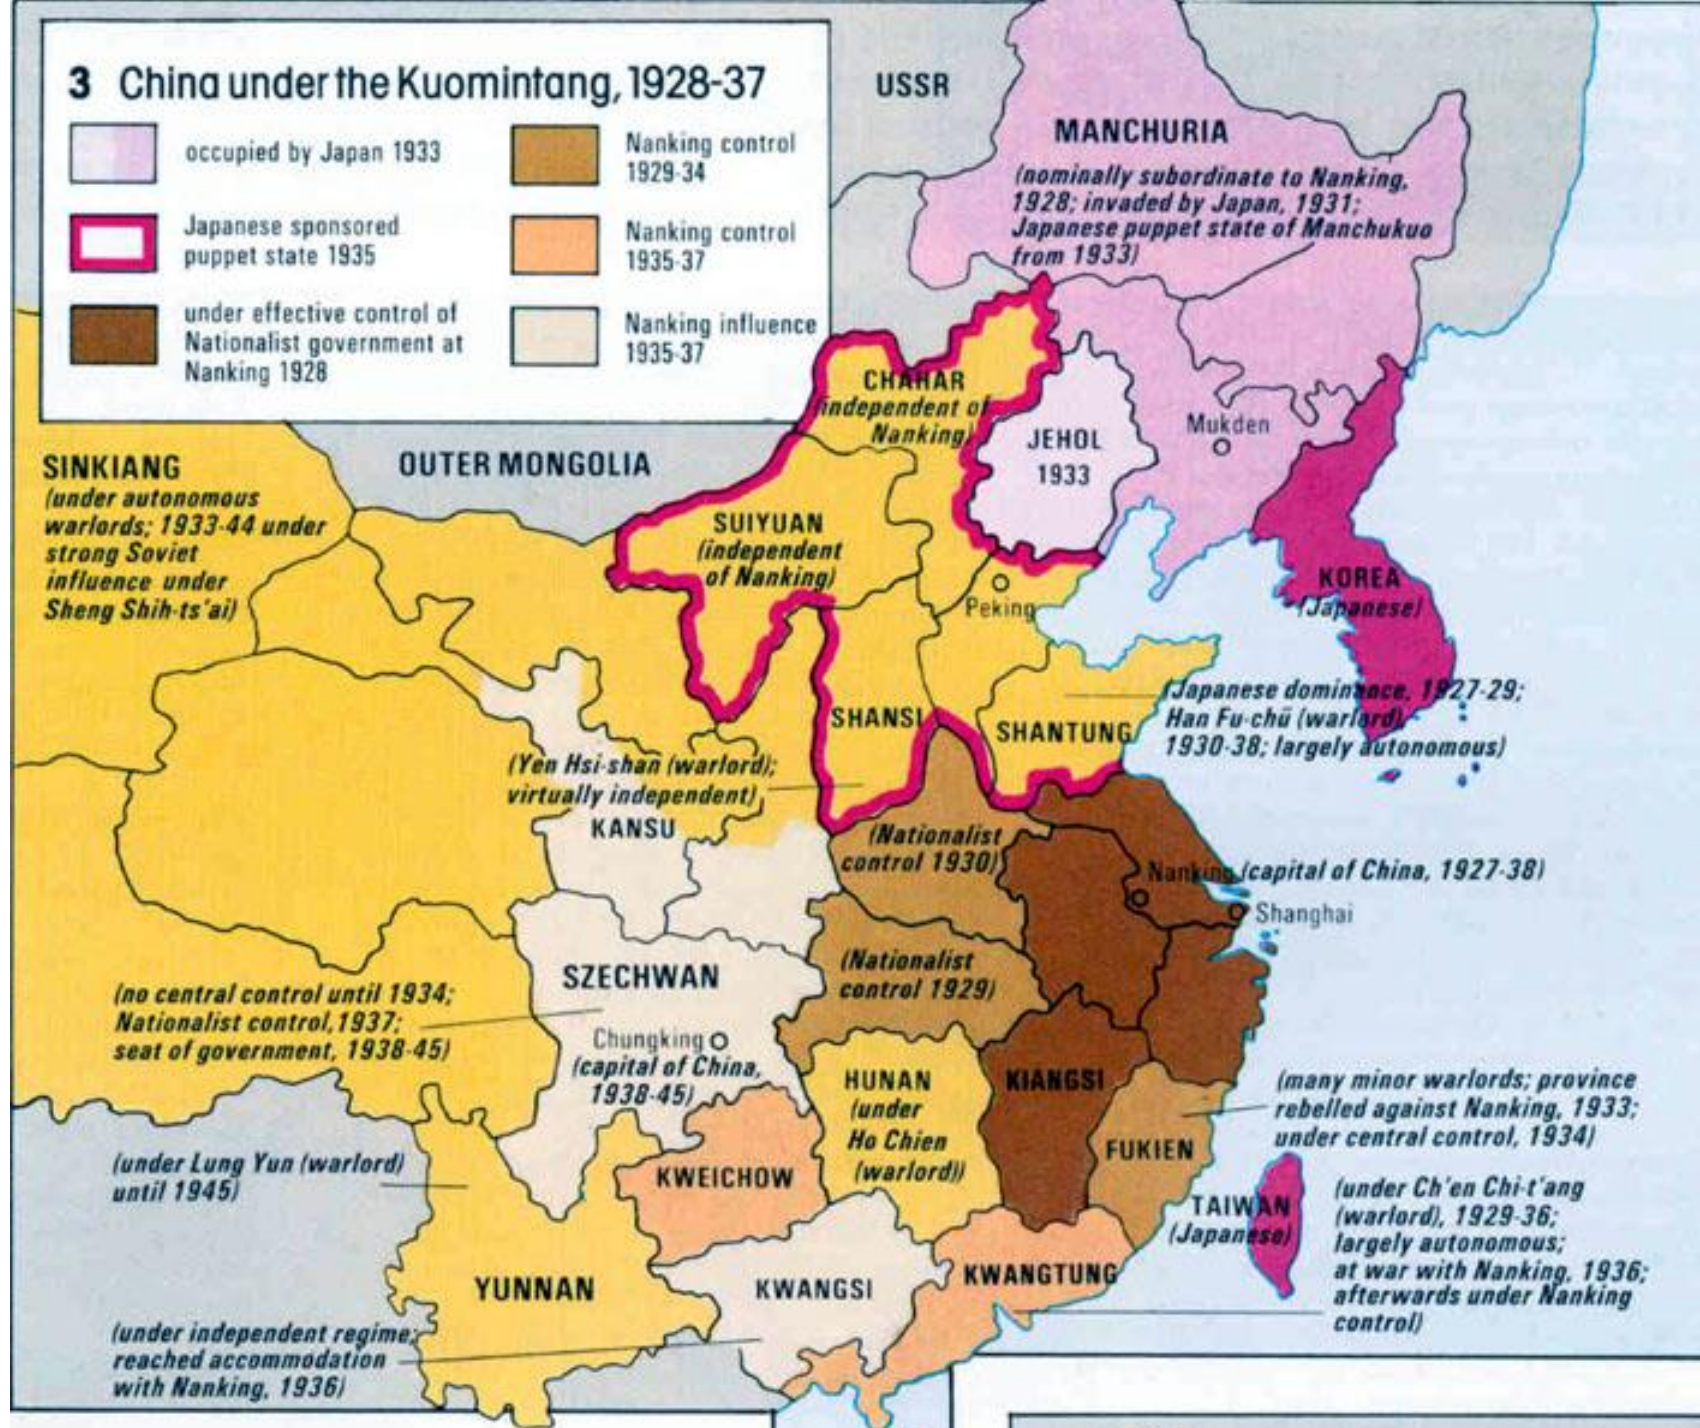

China under Chiang Kai-Shek

- Japanese encroachment
 - 1928, Shandong Province
 - 1931, Manchuria
 - 3 provinces
 - 1932, Shanghai
 - 1933, Northern China
 - suburbs of Beijing
 - 1937, full-scale aggression started
 - Beijing and Shanghai

3 China under the Kuomintang, 1928-37

- | | | | |
|---|---|---|---------------------------|
|  | occupied by Japan 1933 |  | Nanking control 1929-34 |
|  | Japanese sponsored puppet state 1935 |  | Nanking control 1935-37 |
|  | under effective control of Nationalist government at Nanking 1928 |  | Nanking influence 1935-37 |

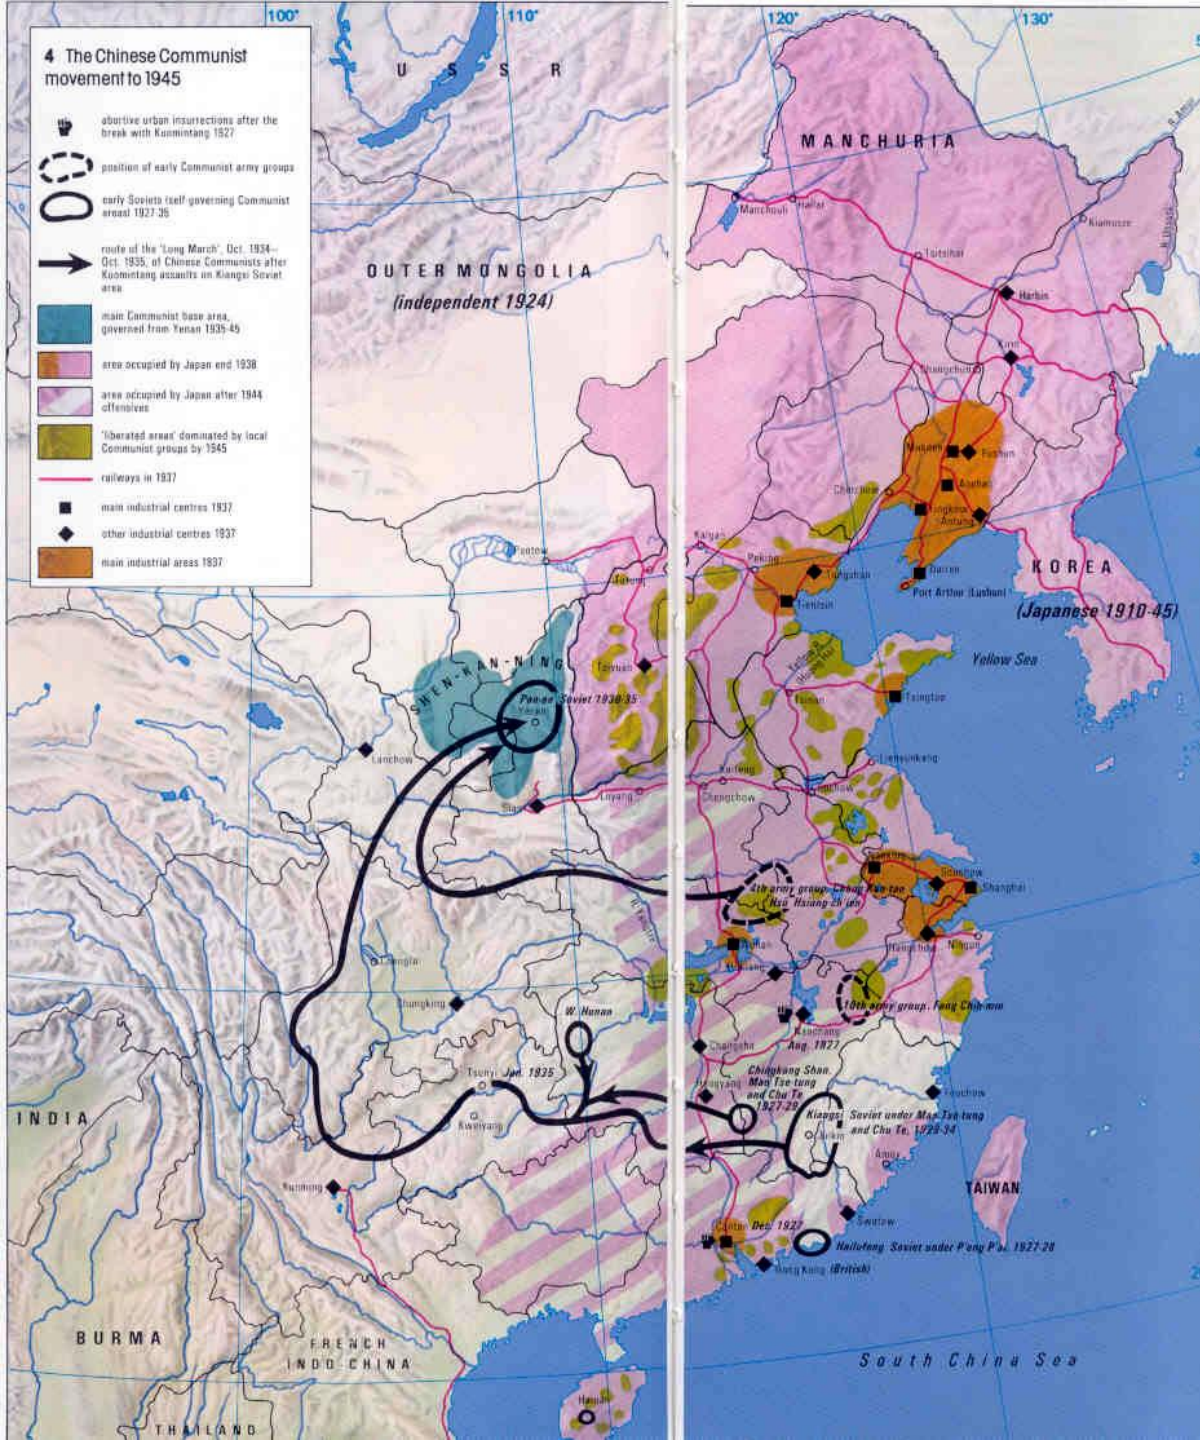

Communists in rural areas

- revolutionary bases in Jiangxi Province
- communist revolts in other areas
- the “Long March” to Northwest China 1934-1935

4 The Chinese Communist movement to 1945

-  abortive urban insurrections after the break with Kuomintang 1927
-  position of early Communist army groups
-  early Soviets (self-governing Communist areas) 1927-35
-  route of the 'Long March', Oct. 1934 - Oct. 1935, of Chinese Communists after Kuomintang assaults on Kiangsi Soviet area
-  main Communist base area, governed from Yenan 1935-45
-  area occupied by Japan end 1938
-  area occupied by Japan after 1944 offensives
-  'liberated areas' dominated by local Communist groups by 1945
-  railways in 1937
-  main industrial centres 1937
-  other industrial centres 1937
-  main industrial areas 1937

Nationalism under Chiang

- Negotiated with Western powers and Japan
 - regained the sovereign right to set tariffs
 - abolished extraterritorial rights
 - abolished or revised “unequal treaties” with Western powers of the Qing dynasty
 - recovered some of the “leased areas” from Western powers